

Dr. Olivia Herriford

Herriford Consulting, LLC

Dr. Olivia Herriford helps business leaders grow their organizations while attracting and keeping good people. Her expertise is building, developing, and motivating high-performance teams while designing and implementing the processes that sustain them. Dr. Herriford has over twenty-five years experience as a leader in high-technology, financial, government, and non-profit environments. Olivia is the owner of Herriford Consulting LLC, a management consulting consortium that offers an array of services that includes business planning and coaching, meeting facilitation, change management, and leadership development. She is also faculty at the University of Phoenix and John F Kennedy University, where she teaches management and leadership courses in both MBA programs, and at The Recharge Institute, where she leads leadership and personal development workshops. For more information about Herriford Consulting LLC, visit the website at www.herrifordconsulting.com.